Number of Visitors

Date	Weather	Number of Visitors in 2025	Number of Visitors in 2024 (Previous Event)
September 30 (Tue)		689	646
October 1 (Wed)		566	485
Total		1,255*	1,131

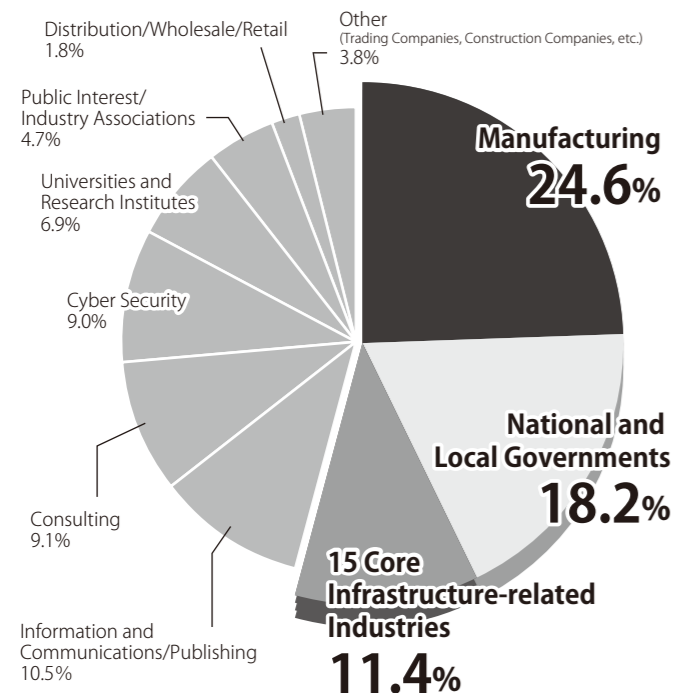

*The above numbers represent registered visitors and guests other than members of the press, and do not include re-entries on the same day.

The number of visitors at the third event increased by 11% from the previous event, totaling 1,255. Notably, visitors who underwent strict individual screening during pre-registration primarily represented member companies of the three major economic organizations. In particular, the "Manufacturing" sector, which operates globally, accounted for 25% of all visitors. "National and Local Governments" (including foreign affairs police) accounted for approximately 20%, while "Core Infrastructure-related Industries" and "Information and Communications/Publishing" each represented 10%.

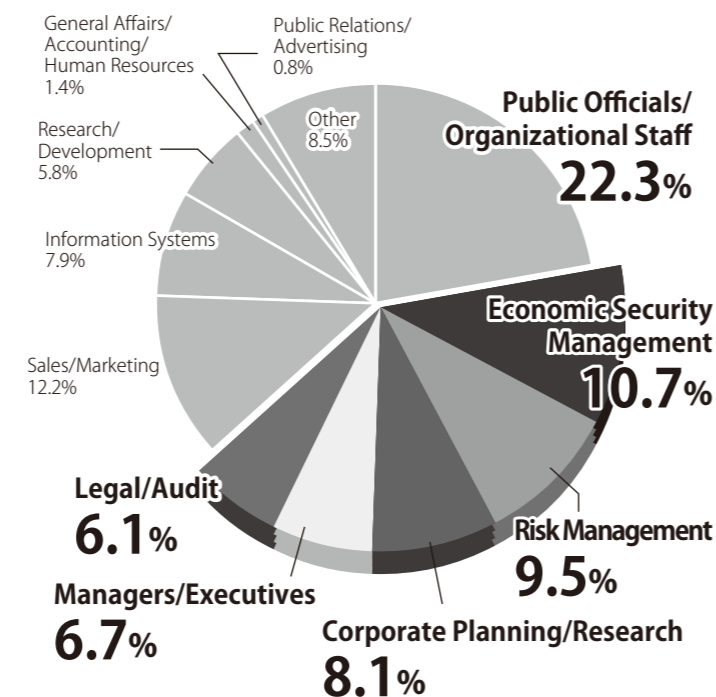

By job type, "Public Officials/Organizational Staff" accounted for 22.3%. Combined, private-sector roles such as "Economic Security Management," "Risk Management," "Corporate Planning/Research," "Managers/Executives," and "Legal/Audit" represented over 40%. Attendance included key executives from large corporations, and mid-sized to small businesses, with a notable increase in "Economic Security Management" roles.

Against the backdrop of unstable international conditions, both public and private sectors are rapidly recognizing economic security as an urgent and unavoidable issue in corporate management.

Visitors' Business Type

Composition by Job Type

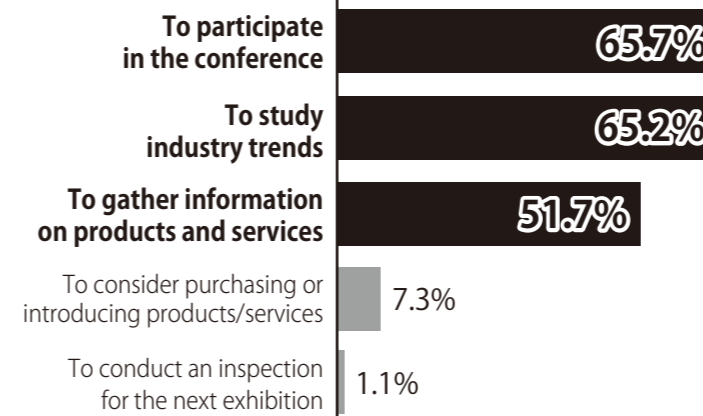

Visitor Questionnaire

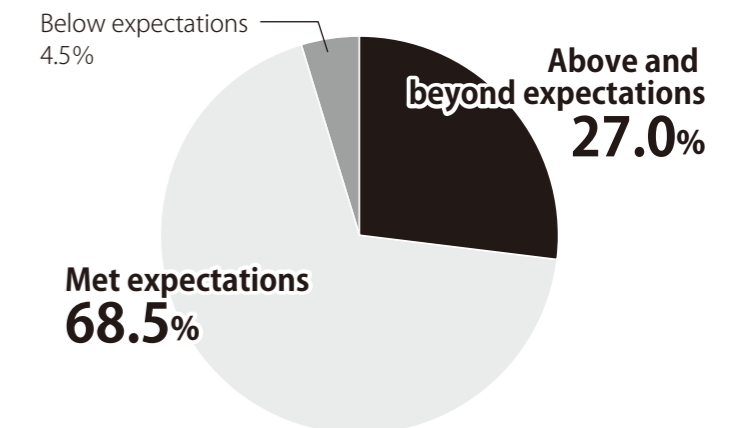

Regarding the purpose of the visit, where multiple answers were allowed, "To participate in the conference" and "To research industry trends" both exceeded 60%, indicating a strong emphasis on comprehensive information gathering, case studies, and networking with relevant parties. Additionally, "To gather information on products/services" reached 50%, suggesting progress in preparations for considering specific measures.

Overall satisfaction was high, with over 95% of respondents indicating the event was "Above and beyond expectations" or "Met expectations," confirming the exhibition provided high-quality information exchange and networking. It is particularly valued as a place for sensitive discussions based on mutual trust and for informal networking. The conference program was highly praised, especially for sessions introducing concrete and advanced initiatives, contributing to high satisfaction levels. Looking ahead, many expressed a desire for more information that directly supports practical work. (Valid responses: 178)

1 Please indicate your purpose for visiting this exhibition (multiple selections allowed).

2 Please indicate the results of your visit.

3 Please specify the purpose of your visit.

- To build professional networks and strengthen our company's competitiveness through corporate collaboration
- To gather information on due diligence.
- To research industry trends and prepare for exhibiting in 2026.
- To understand and deepen our knowledge of the latest economic security trends and initiatives by attending lectures by experts.
- To deepen our understanding of future economic security initiatives by attending expert and exhibitor presentations.
- To hear directly about the specific efforts being made by the government and companies doing business with overseas entities regarding Japan's economic security.
- To gather information on customer and business partner screening tools, sensitive technology management and economic security preparations.
- To understand the latest trends in security export control, risk management, and economic security for practical reference.
- To gather information on cybersecurity, OT security, insider threat countermeasures, and active cyber defense.
- To obtain information on the structure and organizations responsible for issuing security clearances related to economic security.

4 What types of exhibitors would you like to see at the next event?

- Consultants and tools for supply chain analysis and due diligence
- OSINT-related companies
- Cloud services for data protection and preservation
- Think tanks and consultants
- AI security protection, AI-based defense, etc.
- AI-based personnel investigations (e.g. influence from specific foreign government agencies)
- Companies creating and developing systems related to security export control
- Threat intelligence-related and OT security fields
- Companies launching active cyber defense services
- Businesses presenting specific research security case studies and countermeasures
- Security companies specializing in cryptocurrency

5 Feedback Received

- I think it would have been easier to move around if the exhibition booths and the conference venue were on the same floor.
- Although, overall, it was impressive, but the conference times overlapped, so it would have been helpful to have a schedule for the entire conference.
- It would be nice if there were a cloakroom or similar place to store belongings while viewing.
- It would be good to have a monitor in the center of the venue so that people sitting in the back could watch on the monitor.
- The time for each conference was a little short it felt like with more time, the discussions could have been deeper.
- The venue was noisy. I would also have liked some time for a Q&A after each session.

Exhibitor Questionnaire

The primary purpose for exhibiting was overwhelmingly "developing new business partners" at 84.6%. "Contacting target industries," "A place for market research and marketing," and "Announcing and promoting new products/services" each accounted for roughly 50%.

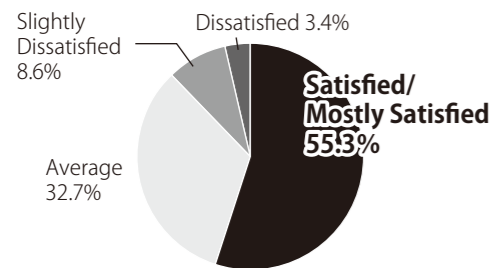

Over 50% of exhibitors reported being "Satisfied/Mostly Satisfied" with the visitor base. The event was highly rated for the opportunity to meet face-to-face with key executives from companies and public institutions, as well as for attracting to decision-makers in relevant departments. (Questionnaire responses were collected from all exhibitors.) Additionally, all exhibitors, excluding public institutions, had their applications accepted following a rigorous screening process.

1 Please tell us the reason(s) for exhibiting this time (multiple selections allowed)

Strong marketing orientation aimed at developing new markets

2 Were you satisfied with the visitor base for this event?

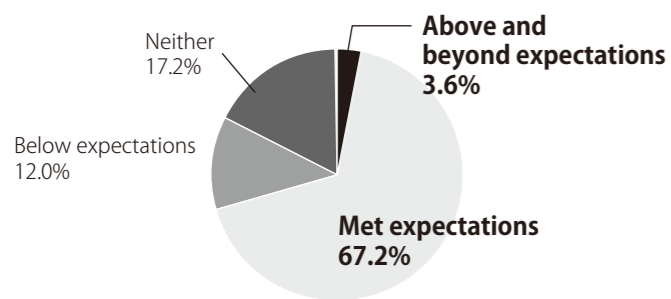

[Satisfied/Mostly Satisfied]

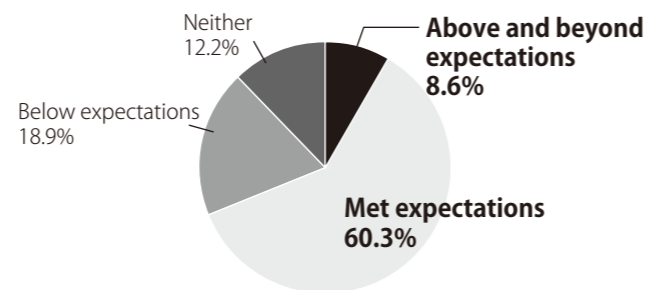

- Because many visitors interested in economic security attended.
- Because it led to new acquisitions in our target industries/sectors.
- Because it is the only event in Japan dedicated to economic security, enabling efficient networking with professionals in the desired specialized fields.
- Because while many visitors seemed to be targeting tool vendors, there were also customers interested in economic security and intelligence who attended.

3 Please tell us about the effects of your exhibit.

As a place for promoting and raising awareness of your products/services:

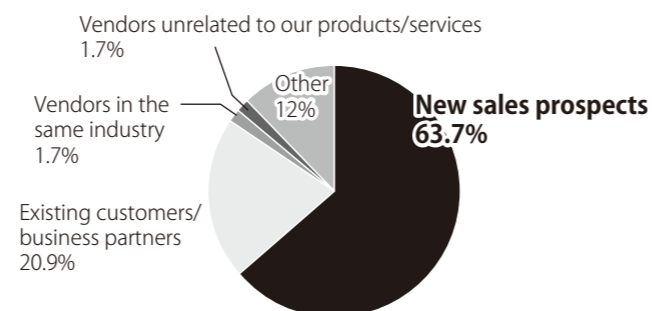

As a place for acquiring new customers:

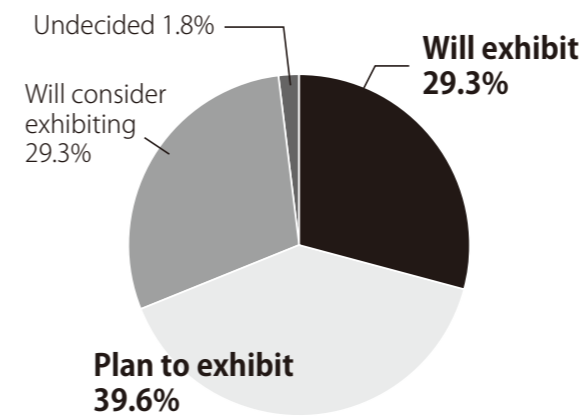

Please tell us the specific number of business cards exchanged.

Company	Number of business cards exchanged	Number of flyers/catalogues distributed
Company A	▶ 200	▶ 300
Company B	▶ 180	▶ 200
Company C	▶ 141	▶ 200
Company D	▶ 134	▶ 184
Company E	▶ 120	▶ 180

Which type of visitors attended most frequently?

4 Please let us know your intentions regarding exhibiting at the next ECONOSEC JAPAN.

[Will exhibit /Plan to exhibit]

- Because exhibiting contributes to our presence in the industry.
- To continuously propose solutions to visitors, specifically focused on economic security measures, and strengthen lead generation.
- Because we have participated since the first event and trust it as a place to engage with our target customers.
- Because companies and organizations are interested in economic security and intelligence gathering, enabling information sharing and opinion exchange.

[Will consider exhibiting]

- Because our exhibited products match the exhibition's theme.
- Because many visitors have specific concerns in the cybersecurity field, which we feel is highly compatible with our service areas.

5 Please feel free to comment on this exhibition.

- With out focus on the critical theme of economic security, we found the visitors' quality and enthusiasm to be exceptionally high. As a result, it was an excellent opportunity to enhance our company's presence in the domestic market.
- Although it was our first time exhibiting, the staff communicated with us meticulously, enabling us to successfully exhibit and deliver our presentation. Particularly for the presentation, we received more customer interest and participation than expected.
- True to the exhibition's purpose, many visitors had deep knowledge in the cybersecurity field, enabling meaningful exchanges with high-quality visitors.
- We secured many leads, continuing the success from last year. We look forward to an even more successful exhibition next year.

6 Feedback Received

- Venue access and internal flow: The flow from the main session hall to the exhibition hall was particularly poor; we hope for improvement next year.
- Compared to last time, I felt visitor density was lower (fewer visitors, fewer people walking the aisles).
- From the perspective of continuing the event, I hope more effort is made to attract visitors.
- The main conference and exhibition venues were on different floors, resulting in fewer visitors to the main venue and making it difficult to attract more visitors.

Public Relations Activities

Public relations and invitation activities were conducted utilizing Jiji Press's comprehensive information dissemination capabilities and its nationwide network of over 60 branch offices and bureaus. Concurrently, with the active cooperation and support of sponsoring organizations such as the Cabinet Office and supporting organizations including the three major economic associations, strong efforts were made to attract key executives from companies, organizations, and public institutions, including those in 15 core infrastructure sectors.

Just before the Exhibition & Conference, the special feature page on the news site "Jiji.com" sequentially published transcripts from the previous conference and interview articles with executive committee members and exhibiting companies. These efforts were aimed at disseminating information and sustaining interest among target visitors.
